

INTERNATIONAL TROMBONE ASSOCIATION

November 2022 Newsletter

This month's ITA Newsletter includes the monthly Listening Corner, a selection of community events, an announcement of a brand new 50th Fanfare Competition, and the news about a new shop...

The ITA is celebrating 50 years!

Thank you for saying we don't really look it ... but 50 is the new 20, right? We're so happy you're here for the ride.

LOOKING BACK

October's events

October was full of exciting events throughout our community. The British Trombone Society presented their annual British Trombone Festival, and Marshall Gilkes and John Fedchock are among several trombonists doing residencies at various universities around the country.

October ITA Journal

Have you had a chance to read the latest ITA Journal? It is full of interesting articles-- including a recap of the 2022 ITF and a tribute to the amazing Betty Glover, recipient of the 2022 Lifetime Achievement Award.

Did you know that ITA members can read all of our previous Journals?

LOOKING AHEAD

November's events

November brings us a vast array of events featuring our beloved instrument. They include concerto performances with orchestra, residencies, and collegiate studio performances.

Visit our official events list for complete information.

Deadline December 8

Registration open for 2023 Solo & Ensemble Competitions

Full competition information

The 2023 competition finals will be held during the International Trombone Festival, July 12-15, 2023 at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City, USA. We hope to see you there!

LISTENING CORNER

"Speaking Soundly" with Joseph Alessi

Joseph Alessi needs no introduction to the trombone community. Principal trumpet of the Metropolitan Opera, David Krauss, launched a new podcast this year where he interviews the best musicians in the industry. In this most recent edition of the Speaking Soundly podcast, Krauss sits down with trombonist Joseph Alessi. Check it out!

Isobel Daws releases debut solo album

Isobel Daws, rising star of the trombone world, released her debut solo recording this year. Full of standards and new works, it has something for every trombone enthusiast. Find her recording on all major platforms, or purchase from Ms. Daws's website!

Express Yourself! (and maybe win a prize)
Join the contest by composing an original trombone fanfare in celebration of the International Trombone Association's 50th Anniversary.
Includes QR code and ITA logo.

Deadline: December 31, 2022

Celebrate 50 with Fanfare!

Announcing the ITA 50th Anniversary Trombone Fanfare Composition Competition! This competition allows talented composers to showcase their trombone writing skills in a unique way. Composers are invited to write a 50-second-long trombone fanfare in celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the International Trombone Association.
